Adrian Houston The Spirit of Nature

until 5th August

Informality Gallery and Henley's, River and Rowing Museum, in conjunction with the initiative Action Oak are thrilled to announce 'The Spirit of Nature' by renowned British photographer, Adrian Houston.

Adrian Houston is a British photographer who lives and works in London. His passion for conservation has seen him travel to some of the world's most unexplored and inhospitable terrains. Adrian's work has been exhibited both at The National Gallery and The Royal Academy of Arts. Other acclaimed exhibitions include a fundraising initiative for Guide Dogs for the Blind at The Haunch of Venison at The Royal Academy of Arts showcasing his customarily innovative portraiture, on this occasion celebrity figures with their canine companions. He has earned several high-profile portrait commissions, among them the late Luciano Pavarotti, the Dalai Lama and Jim Carrey.
